

Populist Nationalism as a Global Phenomenon

5-6 July, 2023

Rothermere American Institute, University of Oxford

Noting the global dimension of populist nationalism over the last decade, this workshop explores diverse expressions of populist nationalism across modern history, from interwar India to the contemporary United States.

5th July – Workshop address, RAI Seminar Room

4:00pm Dr Robert Upton (Ca' Foscari University of Venice)

“The Birth of Hindutva: a Cosmopolitan Populist Nationalism in the Interwar British Raj?”

6:30 pm Conference dinner at Quod, in the Old Bank Hotel (rsvp r.fletcher@missouri.edu)

*

6th July – Workshop, RAI Seminar Room

09:30 am Morning coffee

10:00-11:15 Panel 1

Prof. Jeff Pasley (University of Missouri)

“Populist Nationalism in New Deal America:
The Pony Express versus Hitler”

Prof. Eduardo Posada-Carbó (Brasenose College and Oxford Latin American Centre)

“Latin America and the Global Rise of Populist Nationalism”

11:15-11:30 Coffee

11:30 –12:45 Panel 2

Prof. Miles Larmer (St Antony's College and African Studies Centre)

“Populist Nationalism and Resource Extraction in Southern and Central Africa”

Prof. Catherine Rymph (University of Missouri)

“Feminism and Populism in Conservative Politics”

12:45-1:45 Lunch

1:45-3:00 Panel 3

Prof. Ben Jackson (University College, Oxford)

“Whatever Happened to British Conservatism? Neoliberalism, Populism, and Euroscepticism After the 1980s”

Dr. Charles U. Zug (University of Missouri)

“Populism’ and the Identity Crisis of Leftist Political Parties”

3:00-3:30

Remarks and open discussion, led by

Prof. Lawrence Goldman, Prof. Robert Fletcher, & Dr. Robert Upton

*

6:00pm

Reception on Handa Terrace, Corpus Christi College, with formal hall dinner at 6:30pm
(rsvp r.fletcher@missouri.edu)

With thanks for support from:

“This project has received co-funding from the European Union’s Horizon 2020 research and innovation programme under the Marie Skłodowska-Curie grant agreement No. 101031636”.